

Honoring Our Rivers: A Student Anthology

Call for Submissions

Attention: Oregon Schools, Teachers and Students (K-12 and undergraduate)

Requesting: Oregon student writing and visual art focused on rivers and watersheds

Deadline: January 31, 2015 (postmark)

Hello Oregon Schools, Teachers and Students: Are you looking for a dynamic opportunity to have student writing and artwork published and presented before a statewide audience? Does your passion for Oregon rivers, watersheds and sustainability stir your creative interests?

Honoring Our Rivers is Oregon's only statewide student anthology focused on rivers and watersheds. All students are recognized for their participation, and students selected for publication (through a juried-review process) receive the honor of their work appearing in print before a statewide audience and opportunities to present at events throughout the state. In the anthology itself, student writing appears alongside some of Oregon's best-known authors.

Who can submit? Any student, age kindergarten through college, is eligible to submit their work.

Guidelines in Brief

- One entry per student.
- Written work should be typed or printed clearly (no more than 500 words per entry)
- Digital written entries are encouraged (acceptable formats: pdf, doc, docx).
- Artwork & Photography: Original artwork, Digital submissions preferred: jpeg, tiff, png

All submission forms must include a signature and parents must sign for students under 18. Submissions are not returned and Honoring Our Rivers reserves rights and permissions for printing and reproductions.

Past invited and published Oregon writers (partial list): Barry Lopez, Ursula K. Le Guin, Brian Doyle, Paulann Petersen, Ellen Waterston, Charles Goodrich, Robin Cody, Gina Ochsner, & Charles Finn.
